

SPECIALIST AUTISM SERVICES

CLIENT

Specialist Autism Services are a non-profit organisation that works for and with adults on the autism spectrum across Yorkshire, spreading autism awareness nationally.

They make a positive difference to the lives of their members and through person-centred support create opportunities for people to build confidence, develop social skills, increase independence and fulfil their potential.

Our service supports adults on the autism spectrum to develop their social skills, confidence and independence. Our IBT interactive displays have greatly added to this work that we do and we'd really recommend them to other organisations involved in supporting learning.

These displays have offered new opportunities for social interaction. Individuals will use the interactive displays to do collaborative art-pieces (using the Pro program); they can share photos, favourite YouTube and other videos, and all kinds of information on the screen. Cameras, laptops, external hard drives and memory sticks can be plugged into the boards directly. Videos and films look great on these screens, and far better than they did before when we used a projector.

With the IBT interactive displays we can quickly look up answers to questions that arise during discussions. We can plan journeys and outings together.

Having online information visible on a large screen means that it can be seen by all in the workshop. We can put our plans up as well, and instructions for activities we're doing.

These interactive displays can help us to ensure that we're catering to the different learning styles of our members. Most of our members find the touchscreen easy to navigate and can use it to indicate things they want to say to others. This is particularly useful for our non-verbal members.
